Focuses On W.H.S.

Williamsport, although it is about the size of Grab-Grass Corner, is on its way. This swinging suburb, composed of the ever-moving W.H.S.'ers, is splitting at the seams. Why with the various new structures, especially Stage One (!) we're bound to succeed.

Only one other element is needed: the SPIRIT of Williamsport High!

During the past year, W.H.S. students raced through the corridors . . . athletes tallied victorious points . . . cheerleaders boosted school spirit to ever-growing heights . . . students increased knowledge by competition and intensive study . . . the faculty strived to educate the W.H.S.'ers.

Those were only a few of the events that our students indulged in everyday.

Besides the struggling with their English themes and Trig. assignments, W.H.S.'ers always find time to psych out (with out the aid of weed), usually creating a slight crisis.

This is only part of us. One will see much more as he FOCUSES in on W.H.S.

MR. TRUELOVE seems also to find the time to boost our spirit.

THE SENIOR CLASS not only finds itself speeding throughout the year, but also, are climbing to great heights.

THE FACULTY finds the lunch hour a time for both relaxation and discussion.

KATHY DUNCAN enjoys lunch hour by boosting her spirit with a hamburger.

THE WHS CHEERLEADERS tally the spirit through the games as the BOMBERS make their way.

Administration Leads the Way

The administrative duties are executed faithfully as the school board plans and adopts new policies. The Superintendent of Schools is an officer representing jointly the local school board and the State Department of Education. He acts as the executive and administrative officer of the local Board of Education. It is his duty to put into operation and administer effectively the policies as adopted and approved by the local Board of Education. The Superintendent endeavors to provide the best possible educational opportunity for the children of community.

The office of the Principal is the hub of the high school. Each day our principal, Mr. Truelove, supervises and coordinates all activities concerning students and faculty. School convos, club programs, athletic events, records of student grades and attendance help to make up the work of this office. In addition there are books to be counted, money to be deposited, telephone messages to be delivered, and much more all of which Mrs. Betty Wertz, secretary, assists in maintaining.

Rendering Daily Services

Each period found someone darting through the halls snatching absense slips and delivering messages. This human dynamo was usually an office secretary performing one of the many duties. The secretaries spend much time compiling a list of each day's absentees, posting the attendance, filing letters and reports, typing and taking telephone messages. Mrs. Wertz and Mrs. Simpson guide these representatives of efficiency and helpfulness.

It just doesn't seem fair. We always thought teachers had it easy; and now we know they do. While they eat cake and drink coffee, logarithms, brief forms, and conjugations occupy our thoughts as we follow our routine schedule of classes at Williamsport High.

The commercial students learn efficiency to prepare for the business world; skills and arts from the industrial arts department. Future college courses are also given to those students who plan to continue their education after graduation.

THE DAY OF THE DEAD is celebrated with a walk to the cemetery, as shown above.

Bisecting Angles, Square Roots, Baffles

Know the answer? The math-mind at W. H. S. does.

Under the assistance of Mrs. Roberts and Mr. Leckrone, the students learn the answers, not only to questions like the above, but those ranging from general math to calculus.

Secondary math at W. H. S. has a steady flow of courses. Starting with junior-high with its basics of modern math, the students may go through the algebras, geometry and senior math which includes trigonometry. Although the range of courses in math are narrower than that in some schools, W. H. S. has a fine set of instructors, who push the pupils through the problems of sets, triangles and slide rules.

The special aim for the social studies program is to help pupils understand, appreciate, preserve, improve, and transmit their cultural heritage in such a manner that present and future generations may enjoy its real value.

Economics, psychology, sociology as well as history and government courses enrich the social studies department.

MRS. BAILEY and Mr. Stroud both are amazed at a piece of work done by an IBM machine.

Practice Makes Perfect

... A... B... C... Elementary education? Of course not! To become skillful at the typewriter, business students must start with the basic fundamentals of keyboard and continue practicing. Advanced courses are available for the qualified.

Two years of typing are available and highly recommended for both future jobs and college. Two years of shorthand may be taken by any high school student. Office training is during the junior or senior years. Filing, bookkeeping, and business law round out a major in business and prepare for immediate jobs.

"WHAT?????" exclaims Kathy Duncan. "Oh, that's right. Darn, I always make my S the wrong way!"

Opportunity to Develop

Educators today say that students need to develop skills which require the use of their hands as well as those which require the use of their minds. The WHS students do this by taking art and music classes.

Art is a popular subject. In this class "anything goes". One can paint, sculpture, draw, work with ceramics, or weave. The Art Department is well-equipped with material for every type of creativity.

The Music Department has also a new addition: folk groups. The students are now able to turn in on their own thing. Students with musical ability find band to be a rewarding challenge and an opportunity to excel. This newly-aroused spirit can all be accredited to our new director, Mr. Bricker.

MRS. BAILEY arranges the new supplies for the Art Department.

NOT ONLY do the high school students find art interesting, but also does elementary. Studying colorful slides of artists and their works, students can understand art better.

Focuses

Through Sports

School loyalty and good sportsmanship predominate in all athletics at Williamsport High School, in baseball, in track, in cross-country, and in basketball. Whether the student plays on a team or just backs it by his attendance and enthusiasm at the games, his part is a great one in making the team a good representative of W. H. S. A glance at the records indicate that all the students, in one way or the other, have reached their goal.

Not only does strength of body stem from school athletics, but also firm foundations for strength of character. Many valuable lessons in responsibility, leadership, cooperation, and self-control are learned by the Bombers.

Winning, Is Everything!

The 1969-1970 Williamsport Bomber season was quite a production. It was complete with an outstanding director Dick Young and a star-studded cast of a dozen spirited players. The lesser participants were the extras like managers and statisticians.

With a very limited budget, the Bombers did quite well. New warm-up practice shirts boasted the emblem "Sectional Year" and a shoe giving the best comfort for best results was used by the Varsity.

The "70" Bombers set a NEW ALL TIME HIGH POINT score. It was at the Turkey Run 4 Way Invitational Tourney. Exactly 115 points (no less) were scored against Rosedale in the second game of the match. WHS went on to place second to Montezuma for the crown.

Bingy bowed to Covington in their first game of the Fountain Central Sectional. CHS went on to win the Sectional after rolling over Williamsport 81 to 67.

"Go! Fight! Win!" shout the Pep Club and cheerleaders while Coach Young yells, "Guard him closer you nit wit! Get that rebound!"

While this is going on, the Juniors walk carefully up and down the bleachers shouting, "Popcorn! Peanuts! Cokes!" They're trying to earn money for the Junior-Senior Prom.

During the day preceding the game, Mr. Steele carefully explained to the History Club about the trip to Indianapolis to tour the government buildings.

Meanwhile, Honor Society has finished delivering their boxes of food to the poorer persons in the area.

Art Club members and newspaper staff are busy displaying their talents by making posters and getting the school newspaper, "The Red and Black" ready to go to press.

Don't forget the hard working annual staff who labor every spare moment to get the GOLDENROD ready for print.

All in all, Bingy is an organized (?) ratrace!

Student Council Councils Seek Change

Student Council? Ha! A reaction of many students about our representative body.

The chief aim: A more democratic school system.

As the school continues to change, so does the council (?). Yet to sponsor any convos, dances, or activities, the council seeks to accomplish WHS individualism, but has not found it.

"Too much talk and not enough action seems to still run its course."

WHS has been the foundation for the student council for many years. It's the goal of the council to maintain the school's high standard.

Honor Society

As the outstanding scholars (consisting of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors) sail their charted course through their years at Bingy, worthy leadership, good character development, enthusiasm for scholarship, and a desire to render service are only a few of their honorable standards.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Foster, the Honor Society has done many projects throughout the year. One of these projects was helping the underprivileged children in our own town at Christmas.

THE UNDERPRIVILEGED children wait patiently for Santa Claus at the party given by the Honor Society.

LEADING THE members of the staff, Becky Flint anxiously paints the door to our new annual room.

The annual staff has been the busiest organization in WHS. For the first time, Sophomores were allowed to join the staff to help carry the work load. Our aim for the 1970 GOLDENROD, fondly known as the "Weed", was to present a publication with imagination; we wanted an unique annual. With our forward-thinking co-editors, Su Wilson and Alan Nash, and under the capable leadership of our own Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Burke, we think we've done a darn good job!

"Success! We made it," sighs Shelley Hensley, newspaper editor. While the hard-working members of the newspaper staff smiled prosperously through the array of ink and wadded-up paper after having published the newspaper, the students lined up to receive their copy.

The newspaper was re-named once again to "The Red and Black".

Many of the articles were well-written by satirical students who were "rebelled up" for fiery causes such as attacking the "gum chewing rule" and "lunch line chaos"! While the quiet voice of student poets and dreamers cooled the flaming atmosphere.

Clubs Search for an Answer

What is good art?

"I don't know much about art but I know what I like."

This seems to be as good an answer as any. Who is to judge bad art from good art? Under the supervision of Mrs. Bailey, the art club has explored different forms of art trying to find an answer. The club visited many areas of art interest. One such field trip was to the Purdue Art Center.

In search of the answer we've learned much about form, media, color, artists with their ideas, the thoughts of the artist behind his work, and the role art has in our history, our heritage.

The International Relations Club, a new one, also adds to our knowledge of our country's heritage. Under the guidance of Mr. Steele, the club has made many field trips to such places as our state capitol.

Chorus Soul, Brother

Soul? Not quite. But there is a noted improvement in Bingy music department. Thanks to Mr. Bricker and his overwhelming determination, our band has grown this year and has many new members. They really swing on our school song and add a lot of zip, zang, and pow to our games.

Have you heard about chorus? Students sacrifice their lunch hour to blend their voices into a small but mighty choir. Tammy Able is the faithful pianist. Several members attended the State Choral Festival in Indianapolis and really had a blast. The whole chorus joined hundreds of other students in the area for a gigantic Christmas Carol sing in Danville, Illinois.

Focuses of People

I was sitting calmly in study hall when the bell rang for my next class. I started hurriedly to my locker. But on reaching to the study hall door—"Oops", someone knocked all my books out of my hand. There were people walking everywhere! How can I gather my books? I started out again. I was at the top of the stairs when I was greeted by millions of people coming up. I was squeezed and knocked all the way down. I was knocked a little too far! There stood Mr. Truelove looking at me. Are you chewing gum? Get rid of it! I finally encountered the lockers! But I could not find mine for all the people walking in and out, back and forth. Suddenly I was swept into a moving crowd! They carried me to—no not back to study hall!

It Gains Strength As It Goes.

—Virgil

On September 1, 1958 thirty-six anxious little children entered Williamsport Grade School under the instruction of Mrs. Biggs.

Throughout our Grade School and High School years while under the influence of an extensive variety of instructors we have endured and confronted many debatable challenges. Our Freshman year we were for the most part, noisy and undisciplined. But our Senior year we were known to be quite noisy and undisciplined.

Our Senior Letterman have always been outstanding in basketball. In the Eighth Grade we were champions of the Fountain-Warren Tournament.

The Prom, Senior Tea, Senior parties, and a beautiful graduation ended our years at Bingy.

The "Seniors of Seventy" are very proud of their record of good-behavior, we only hope we have set an example for all the underclassmen!

I, Soni Thomas, being the militant that I am, will my rebellious personality to Norman Bower.

I, Jerry VanSickle, being very stable, will my speedy car to Larry Williams.

I, Machel Walder, will my ability to be office girl and goof-off all afternoon to Diane Griffis.

I, Steve Warren, will if you will.

I, Joyce Watson, being of unstable mind and bod, will to Len Sells my great height.

I, Ken Wertz, will my straight hair to Todd Wagner.

I, Susan Wilson, being of uncertain mind and body, will my hot Olds and Fowler guys to Jill Schmid.

I, Jerry Wurtsbaugh, will my ability to have the audacity to have the balls, and to create awesome circumstances to Mike Marlatt.

Class Prophecy

Flight "70" now boarding at gate "13" for Poland!! "That's me!" cried Robert Steven Warren, U.S. Presidential candidate; as he picked up his case of wine. And as he boarded the plane, whom should he meet but, Ed Kerst, Mayor of Cayuga, who like Steve was on his way to Poland to campaign.

No sooner had they uncapped their tenth bottle than a rough voice behind them screeched; "Hands Up!" Why! It's Soni Thomas hijacking the plane to Poland (real weird, since it's going there anyway). Soni sat down and began to talk and soon forgot her former intentions.

So they landed in Siberia for refueling. While there they noticed a familiar-looking guy coming out of the feed store. I do believe it's Rich Price! We talked with him for awhile and he informed us that he was a prosperous sheep-herder in the upper regions of Siberia (or lower Arctic, whatever turns you on). Rich then told us of the whereabouts of another classmate, Bub Knipe, who is the proud owner of "Snipers Physical Fitness Center; for Blonde Swedes Only!" Although none of us were Swedish we were pretty sure he would see us anyway.

As we began our walk down the road to Bub's, suddenly; there was a loud crash, followed by a cloud of dust, through which emerged a person in a green scuba-diving suit and football helmet, as we removed the helmet, we recognized Brenda Thomas, so being the good sport we are, we helped her pick up the remains of the tricycle. We explained to her where we were going and she joined us, but we didn't get very far before we were stopped by an enraged farmer, who demanded, "who ran over my frog?" Brenda apologized, and the farmer identified herself as Gloria Combs, who told us she was a very wealthy frog farmer, and as she joined us she happily added, "oh well, one frog never hurt anybody!"

Luckily, Gloria knew of a place nearby where we could get refreshments, later as we entered the brewery; we saw a person who looked very familiar, it's Jerry VanSickle, official tester for Palist. He told us he enjoyed his job greatly. After joining us, we finally reached Bub's around midnight, the time Bub gets groovin'. Persuading him to leave his job, we all continued on our search for our long-lost classmates.

As we hitch-hiked down the fwe-way we saw a trailer with a man wearing a Joe Namath tee-shirt who turned out to be Greg Rolan. Continuing down the road, we ran into one of Greg's relatives, Joyce Watson, who was on her way to Poland's no. 1 trading post to buy some paint for her car.

Joyce took us to a candy store where we might find Marilee Ritchie, but it was only dimly lit by a candle and only a poor old washerwoman was inside. Suddenly, a neon sign flicked on "Talbot's Licorice" and in the light we recognized Marilee. Joining us, we trudged through the night to a little town called Piney Village, where we found a man crying on the doorstep of a motorcycle shop. Alan Nash! He told us he had to close shop because someone told him there were other things to ride. Al took us to where we could find Rick Barnhart. On our way, we saw a sign "Free Electric Fence Testing", and there was no further need for directions. Then we all decided to rent a car (mistake no. 707). We hadn't driven no farther than Czechoslovakia then we wrecked and were picked up by an ambulance. 29 hours later we were taken to a hospital where we recognized a lab technician to be Beck Flint. Even though she was grossed out by the whole mess she joined us as we caught a plane back to the U.S.A.

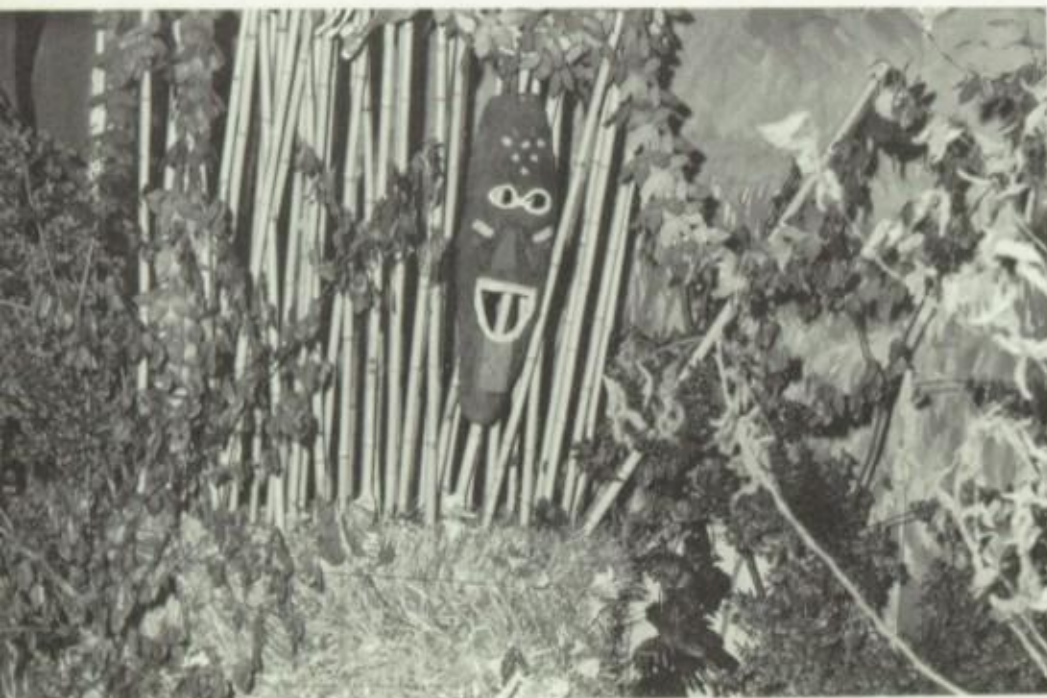

Suddenly we crashed into the black jungles of Africa, where we were rescued by a tribe of pygmies, led by Machel Walder. Not collecting her commission for rescuing us, Machel joined us on our flight back. Later, after we landed in New York we went to a basketball game where we saw Jim Kane, the only red-center of the Harlem Globetrotters. Jim told us about Voit Laboratories, where we met Ken Wertz, official ball tester. Then a real weird kid came selling Xmas ornaments. It was Aleta McMurtrie. They joined us and we soon reached Lafayette's Purdue where we found Susan Wilson still psyched out on the "Weed". Su joined us as we went on our way to Pine Village to see Pam Jordan, who turned out to be very happy as she was voted "Sweetheart of Summer's Campground". Back in WmSport, we found Linda Crowmer at the Robo. On the way to see our alma mater, we heard a cry who turned out to be Shelley Hensley sitting in the alley behind Stage One. She told us that she was the civil rights leader in WmSport (but due to lack of funds) Williamsport has no civil rights!

Shelley joined us and when we reached the doors of Bingy we were greeted by Jerry Wurtzbaugh, who had assumed the principalship there. Jerry told us the whereabouts of another classmate and we proceeded to Johnson's Bridge where we found Kathy Duncan taking a refreshment break from her job of rebuilding Johnson's Bridge into a resort area.

After talking we decided to have one of our hell-raising parties (for sentimental reasons only)!

COOL ICE-BLUE punch helped to cool the couples as they danced through the jungle. Mary Beth Dickey helped in the serving.

JUNGLE MASKS, tropical birds, and vines added to the jungle-themed prom.

Jungle Adds the Beat to Prom

The Jungle added its beat to the WHS Banquet and Prom.

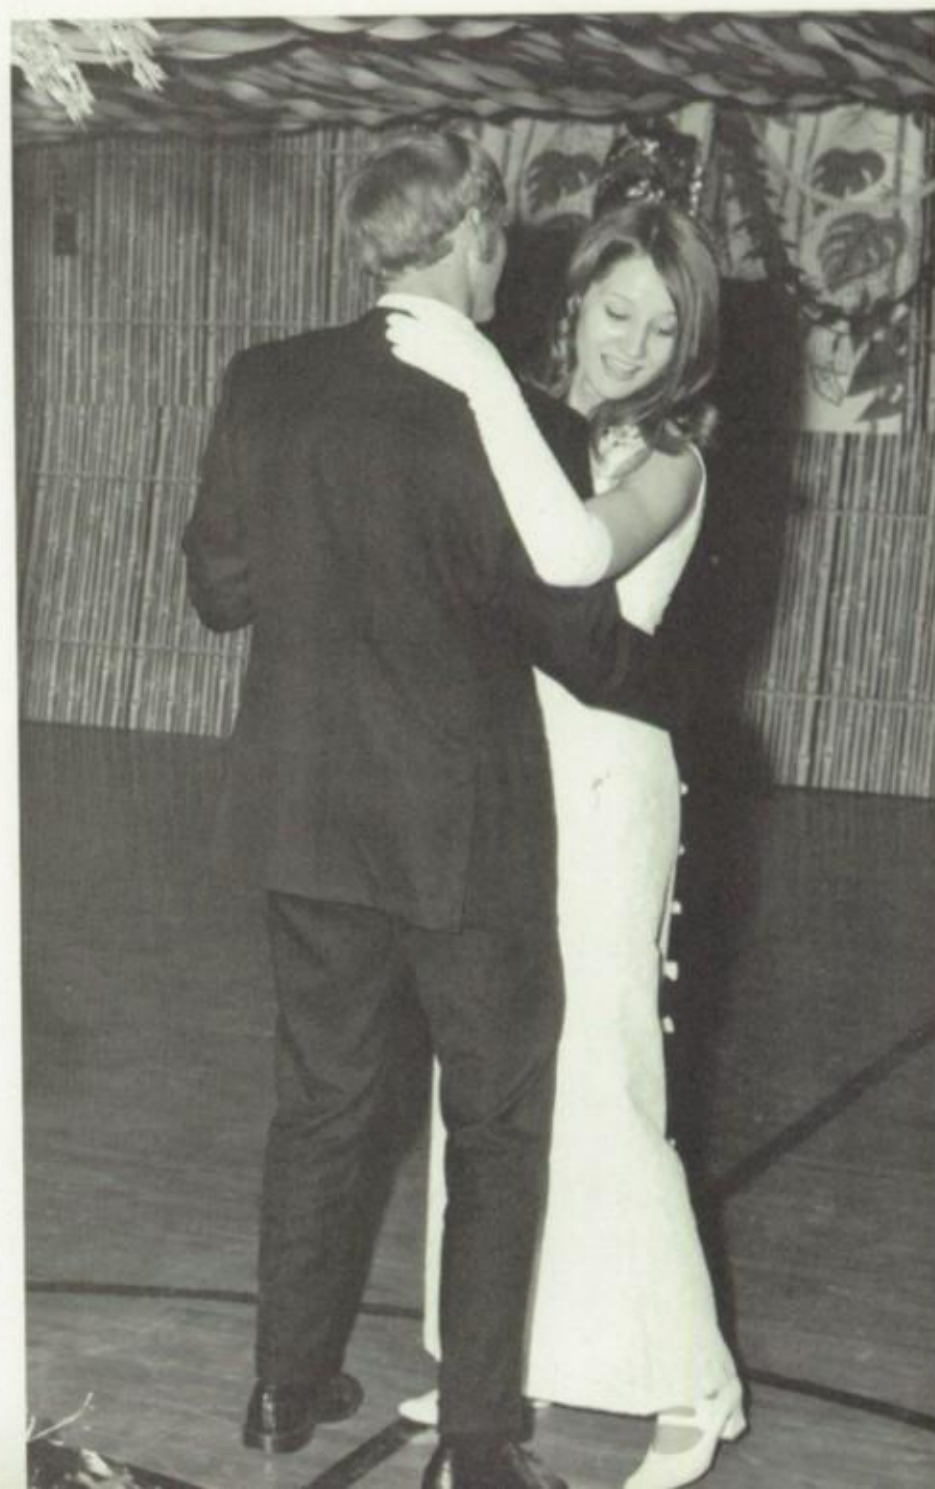

Banquet-goers dined at the Holiday Inn in Lafayette. Jungle jewels, roast boar with tropical sauce, and coconut milk were only a few of the Jungle foods in the menu. After the meal, Soni Thomas read the class wills and prophecy.

For the prom, the gym was turned into a tropical jungle. Drums, spears, and jungle masks added to the atmosphere.

The after-prom party was also held at the gym by the switching of bands.

The evening ended with a breakfast held at Thomas's.

EXCITEMENT AND FUN mounts in both Jim Kane and his date, Kay Smith, as they dance to tropical beat of L. J. George Band.

ADDING TO THE MOOD of the evening, was the L. J. George Band's swinging music.

TO CAPTURE the moment, each one had his picture taken by Bowen Studios. Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Bowen find the prom refreshing.

MIDDLE: MR. AND Mrs. Foster finds the evening to be very enjoyable as they watch the couples dancing.

THE NIGHT'S EVENTS are discussed, attires and dates compared, and secrets are told as the couples take a break from dancing.

"We'll Always Remember"

Yes, the seniors will always remember graduation day and the times they had up to it.

May 17, 1970 seemed as the end to the seniors; yet, it was just the beginning: the beginning of all their memories at WHS. One doubts if Susan Wilson will ever forget her valedictorian speech, or Jim Kane his introduction talk about John Hicks, the guest speaker. And of course, the senior parties at some special spot, such as Johnson's Bridge (Right, Kathy?).

As the seniors set out on their ways, they will always have their fun-loving days of Bingy to remember, and unexpected opportunities awaiting.

ABOVE: TO ADD to the evening's ceremony was the very moving touch of the Junior's candle-light march.

LEFT: THE CHORUS also added their touch to the affair by singing "Graduation Day".

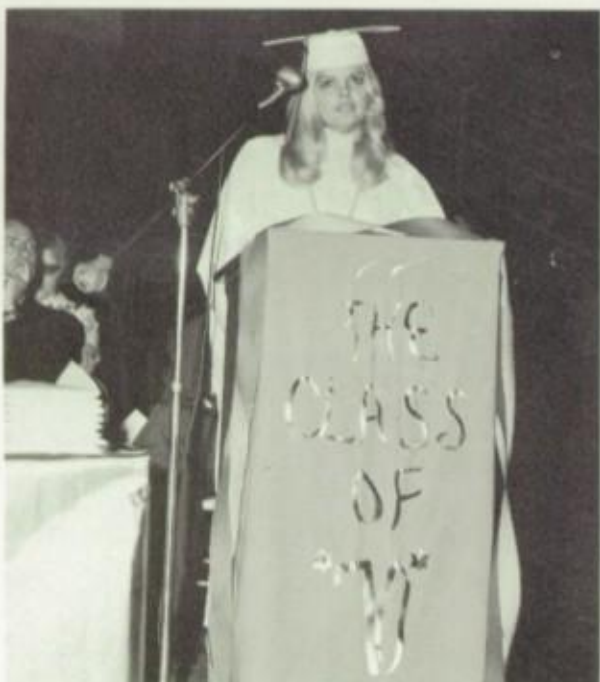

BOTTOM RIGHT: JOHN Hicks of Purdue was the guest speaker for the long-awaited night.

"YOU ARE NOW looking at the graduating class of 1970." The commencement exercises were held in the gym.

Set Out Early to Reach Goal

"Things don't turn up in this world until somebody turns them up."

Garfield—

This is the lesson that the Class of "71" learned this year, and they learned it well. The year started out slowly, but the pace picked up after the first two days. It kept picking up all year, so we had a lot of momentum going for us at prom time.

The big events had to do with fund raising. Our fashion show was a success, and the concession stand kept us jumping all year. Finally May 9TH arrived.

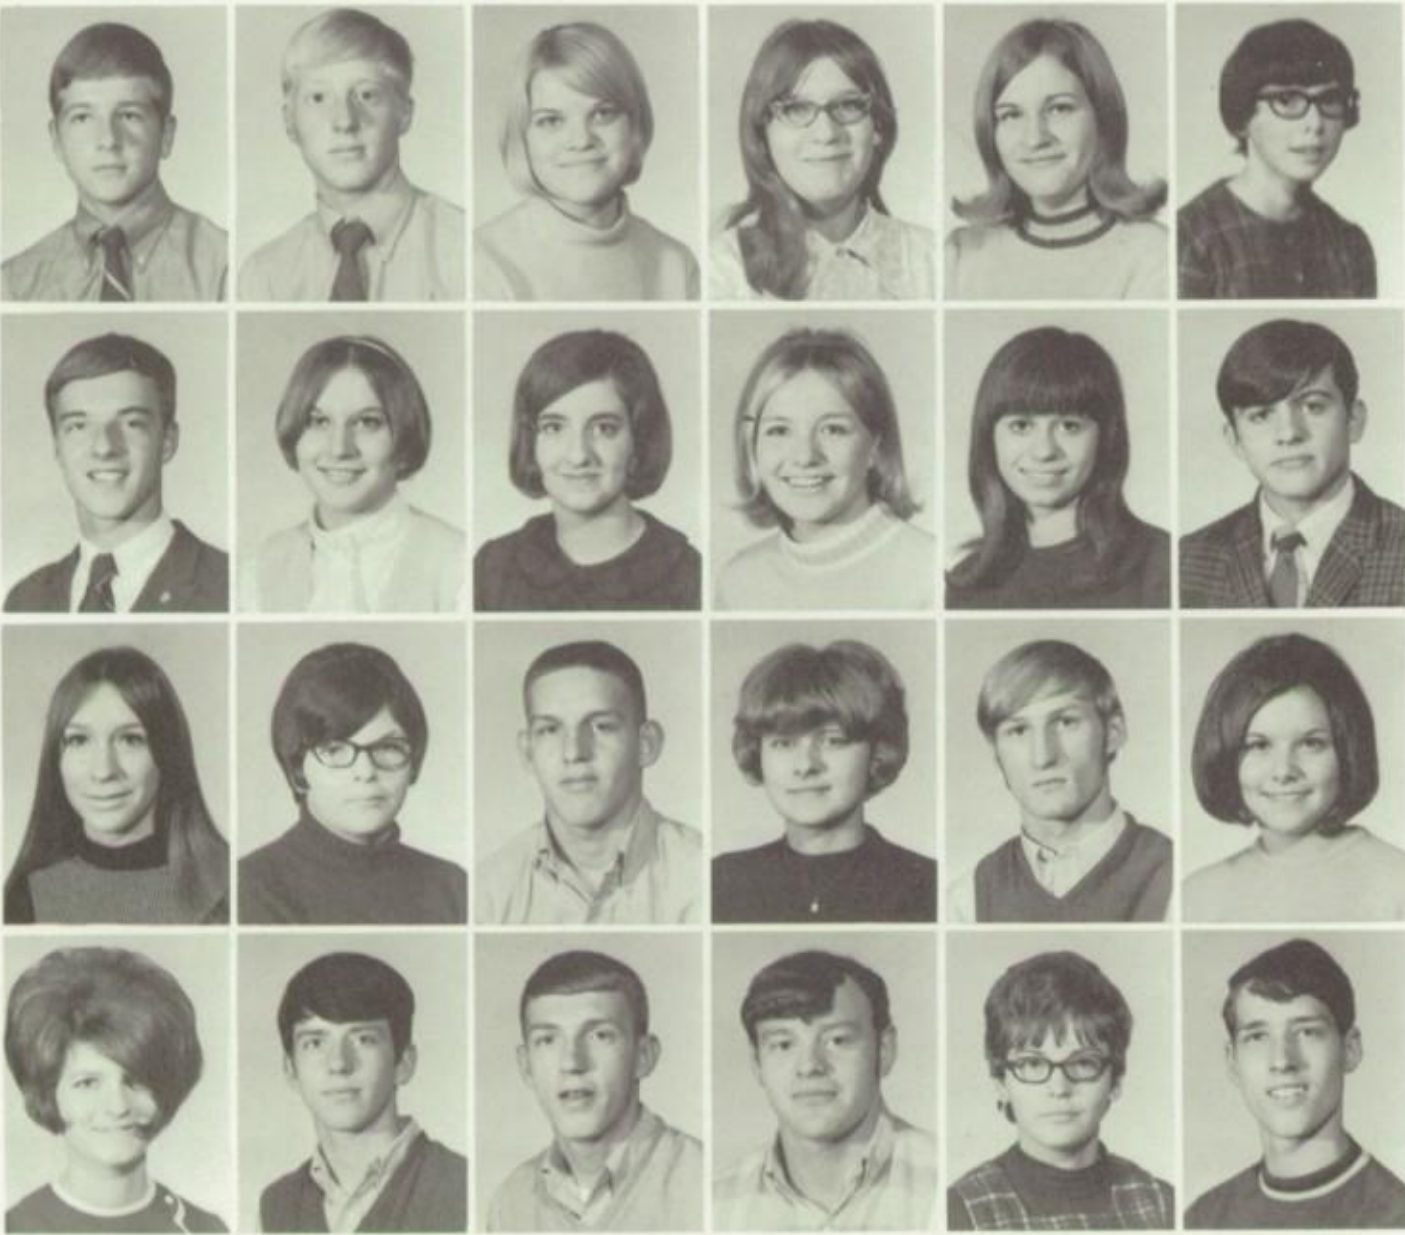

We're proud of the Prom and all the things we pushed and fought so hard for. We learned a lot, and the year of work, by all standards was worth the effort.

MRS. ROBERTS MANEUVERS streamers into position as she assists in the creation of the Junior-Senior Prom.

Energetic Sophomores Select Rings

What has seventy-two legs; one thousand, fifty-two teeth; three-hundred sixty fingers; throws paper wads, sells candy and has spasms? You guessed it, the Sophomore class.

Swinging their way into the second year of high school, the sophomores joined into many of the school's functions.

The sophomore's highlight was the ordering of their class rings.

Inferior, now, only in rank, the sophomores are on their way. To what? They do not know!!!

SHERRY BROWN and Cheryl Galvin, although freezing, seem to enjoy the bonfire and snake dance before the tourney.

Freshmen Wing Through Fiascos

"Look out! Here comes a senior. Quick, run! They're out to get us." Initiation time comes again.

"Hurry up and get those frogs cut open!" shouts Mr. Young. While in another part of the building, Mrs. Roberts explains an Algebra problem.

The frolicking freshies of good old Bingy are at it again. Winging their way through one fiasco after another, they create many problems and sometimes solve a few. The entire world of the freshmen revolves around becoming an upperclassman. The freshman class will have many more years of fun, follies, and wide-awakenings ahead of them!

FUN AND EXCITEMENT was the freshmen's feelings as they rode around in their truck full of hay. The freshmen decided on a hayride for their class party.

Eighth Graders Graduate

Rushing around from class to class, the eighth graders look with awe at the upperclassmen, for the path they have yet to climb is long and difficult.

Decorating homerooms, studying, and working on many other activities kept the eighth graders busy all year. The event to which they all looked forward with enthusiasm was graduation.

With their own basketball team and cheerleaders, the eighth graders help to build school spirit.

THE EIGHTH GRADERS do many things the high school does. Shop and Home Ec. are just two of the classes.

Acknowledgements

The "Weed" is finished now, but not forgotten (!!). It was my hope that I could create a book that would bring back memories of one's high school years.

The 1970 "Weed" has been an endeavor not to show every student's face, but rather to capture the face of W. H. S.; to emphasize its new qualities.

When I started this annual, I had had very little experience in this type of work; but I have been lucky to have SO MANY PEOPLE willing to help me. I would like to thank my staff for their many, original ideas, also, Mr. Truelove, for his guidance, and my two sponsors, Mrs. Carol Moore and Mrs. Vickie Burke.

Autographs "74"

Ed,
I had a nice time at your graduation party.
Good laugh in the future with girls?
Diane

So a real great guy your friend
Always
Tmely

Ed —
Hey man! Stay real cool. Just think: we made it through initiation allright (?) I hope we make it through three more years!

Sandi

Ed
I thought you look real cute
in your dress
today
Teresa
Slinker

Ed,
Good luck in all your attempt.
I hope for a good year. Keep smiling and have a good life.
27.
MM Hobbitt

To Ed,
Have fun always
during your Bingy Days.
Be good and good luck.
Love ya,
Karen

(OVER)

Ed,
O bear sleeps in his bare skin and as the story goes I stepped in my bare skin and golly nearly froze.
(Such a nyche)

Leonard
Sells

To the class of
'74's worst procrastinator!
and get with it!!
Good luck!
Alena M. M. M.

Eddie, a great friend.
You're probably the best boyfriend I've got cause you know when to keep your mouth shut. Sorry about playing that joke on you but it was ~~real~~ kinda funny.

I love ya
Connie (Tonnie)
P.S. remember me as your neighbor!

Hi Krugie:
Keep your good Duper lock so you can bill Woody.
Dan

Ed,
To a fine Spanish student who keeps me jumping
all the time. Good luck in the class. He reported, and everything you try!
Love,
Blondy

Ed,
I love you!
I love you!
I love you!
But don't get spoiled.
Joanne
'72

Ed,

For an underclassmen you're really a great kid. I'm sorry about the Prom ~~last~~ year, maybe you'll have to take me next year. (Imagine you will). Stay sweet and have fun your future years at Bingy. Don't waste a second of time, because it passes too quickly anyway.

Love ya,
Love

Kupero,

~~Ed~~ To a real good kid.
good luck in the future with the broads. Jim -74-

P.S. I will remember you instead of Grunt

Ed,
If I take to much time you will have to ~~run~~ But GOOD LUCK with your tennis game
Love, Hazen

Pugs, Love ya loads. Have fun always, and keep smart.
Love ya,
Daddy

Ed,
Keep smiling
and maybe someday you'll be as great as our class. (Seniors 1973!)
You're a good kid (nice to have around.)

Always,
Jackie
'73.

Ed,
Remember all the fun we've had (when we were neighbors.) Let's stay together as friends the rest of our high school years.

Be good!
Love ya,
Debi

Duke,

To a tough underclassman.

(With that Dugan-ball lock.

You can't be beat'.) One of these days Don and I will catch you when Clifford T. Beers isn't around, and will clobber you.

a friend,

Soft (Pock)

Ed

You've got the biggest heart and close to the best attitude in the "great" class of '74.
Mr. Bryant
